THE NEW CITROËN C3

— #FREEDOMOFEXPRESSION —

THE MAN BEHIND A CENTURY-OLD LEGACY

The brand Citroën owes its remarkable success to an audacious, maverick Frenchman - André Citroën. Driven by a dream to make cars more accessible to everyone, he founded Citroën in 1919. With his ground-breaking vision, the company would go on to revolutionise car manufacturing in Europe and become a pioneer in automotive innovation.

André Citroën developed the double-helical gears with V-shaped teeth years before he founded the company he named after himself.

The gears proved to be a game-changer, bringing him immense success. Little wonder then, the gears held great significance for him – so much so that he based the design of Citroën's logo on the very same gears. Besides his entrepreneurial gifts, he was renowned for his advertising acumen, dazzling audiences with bold and never-seen-before campaigns. André Citroën's spirit has endured at Citroën for over a century, inspiring the company's designers and engineers to be as audacious as he was. And to push the boundaries of what is possible.
